Stage 4.2 cover + scope lock

Stage 4.1 is approved and locked. Stage 4.2 designs excellent archetypes, proves each with representative content, maps all 314 public page records to an archetype, and defines controlled variation. It does not draw 314 unique pages.

In scope

- Discovery: mobile directory, search (desktop, mobile, autocomplete, no results), Print & Display hub, Projects directory
- All 9 PDP families: 25 representative PDPs + state board + mobile comparison
- Commerce: mobile configurator, cart, guest checkout and its states
- Transactional: quote, proof, order and guest-access expansions
- Editorial/trust: Our Work, case study, resources, article, About, Contact, 404
- B2B: 17 workspace, group and store screens
- System: utility states, component delta, responsive, assets, coverage, repetition audit, QA

Out of scope (stop rules)

- No new art direction, fonts or visual territory
- No coding or technical architecture specs
- No change to frozen Stage 3.1 architecture without a logged justification (section 86)
- No invented prices, MOQs, lead times, clients, metrics, installation or machine claims
- No fictional demo organisation presented as a real client

Data labels used on every screen

- TEST DATA: Stage 1.4 seed prices, MOQs and lead times; 3.1x fixtures
- DEMO CONTENT: ACME Hospitality Group and all case/demo names
- GENERATED PLACEHOLDER: every image on this board (no real HolyPearls photography exists yet)

Reference implementation notes

Directory / PLP / search (R02–R04)	Visible category-specific filters with counts, applied-filter overview, mobile filter sheet; search answers customer language and mixes products, projects and guides.
Category hubs (R01, R22)	Subcategories first, editorial proof second. Mobile never buries navigation below a campaign hero.
PDPs (R05, R11, R12, R14, R15, R18, R19)	Gallery signposting (count + position), no horizontal tabs for main content, quantity ladders with total and per-unit, structure/material/scale mental model for packaging, placement-led embroidery.
Cart / checkout (R06)	Guest-first, enclosed, linear, data preserved on back, recovery keeps the same order.
Workspace / assets (R20, R21)	Calm density, visual file browsing with version metadata; never a full DAM or ERP.
What we never copy	Brand identity, exact compositions, copy or motifs of any reference. The Stage 4.1 board (R25) wins every visual conflict.
Palette conflict logged	The brief and R25 describe ‘warm ivory / orange’. The owner replaced that with the Signal theme on 26 Sep 2026 (white, cool neutrals, signal red #D2311A). Per the brief’s rule that the 4.1 board wins, Signal is used. QA gates Q02/Q04 are read against Signal. See § 86.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Formal garment imagery: folded studio shot first, then worn at a desk, then collar/placket detail.

Fit and sleeve are primary choices (formal shirts are bought on fit); colour range is confirmed per route.

Branding defaults to a small embroidered chest mark, which suits formal shirts; print is still available.

Made-to-measure route is visible from the start, since corporate shirts are commonly cut and sewn (seed note: 'Can be cut-and-sew').

Placement table replaces the Polo's quantity bands. Lead time is 5–10 working days (seed), longer than Polo.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Hospitality context leads: the kitchen in-use shot is image 2, not buried below.

Personalisation (names on chest) is a first-class choice, linked to size and name collection for the whole team.

A team-order module explains collecting names and sizes online instead of the Polo's fabric story.

Functional details (fabric, fastening, pockets) are confirmed with the customer rather than claimed.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

- Functional context first: on-site image, then reflective-tape detail.
- Visibility and placement are choices; reflective tape is offered but its specification is confirmed at review (no safety-certification claims).
- Back placement is shown because workwear is read from a distance.
- A size-run module replaces the fit chips; teams order across sizes in one go.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Made to measure is the only route, so the three garment routes are replaced by a measurement choice.

Quote required (seed: PROJECT_QUOTE); embroidery level visibly affects price, as the seed notes.

Proof is digital and sample (seed: DIGITAL_AND_SAMPLE); Min 1 outfit; 10–25 working days.

A measurement guide and a made-to-measure timeline replace the fabric and quantity modules.

Studio fittings are not claimed; 'measure with us' is 'by appointment, confirmed after your enquiry'.

Embroidery or print?

A quick way to decide. We'll suggest one if you're not sure.

If you want…	Embroidery	Print
A premium look on polos and caps	Best choice	Good

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

A service page: the first choice is what we're stitching onto, not a garment spec.

Macro stitch evidence leads the gallery; placement and relative size follow.

Digitising is explained in plain words ('we prepare your logo for stitching'). Machine terms like stitch counts and hoops are never shown.

Seed note 'digitisation may be extra' becomes: any cost shows in your estimate or quote.

Primary CTA 'Configure embroidery'; secondary 'Help me choose'.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

The item selector leads with caps, because that's where raised embroidery is mostly used.

An artwork-suitability note sets expectations honestly: fine detail may switch to flat embroidery in the proof.

A flat vs 3D comparison replaces the embroidery-vs-print table.

Patches and badges are cross-linked as the other 'raised' option.

Garment application leads (printed tee, then placement options). The process is explained in outcomes, not jargon.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Same fast direct-buy logic as Business Cards: every option is inline, and the total, per-unit price and lead time sit next to Add to cart. No wizard.

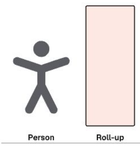
How big it looks in the room

A standard roll-up stands taller than most people, so it's seen over a crowd at a stand or reception.

Exact dimensions come from operations and are shown in the spec and your proof.



HARDWARE

Base, pole and banner

The banner rolls into the base and is held up by a pole. It sets up in minutes and packs away after the event.

Print	Printed by us and checked before dispatch
Replacement	Swap the print, keep the stand

A fixed price (₦55,000, small base) makes this the fastest large-format buy, so it uses the direct cart path.

The base choice (small or big) is the only structural option; the big-base price updates when selected (seed: 'Big base modifier').

Replacement print only (keep your stand) is offered as a separate choice.

A person-scale diagram shows height relative to a person. Exact dimensions come from operations, since the first run's 85 × 200 cm was unsourced and removed.

Large format is confirmed in-house, so copy can say 'printed in our own production'.

Use-type presets (photo wall, stage, custom) come before dimensions, because customers think in use, not metres.

The frame is a separate choice (seed: 'Frame may be separate').

Production and installation are shown as two separate tracks, each with its own state. Installation is always quoted after a site check.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Priced per square metre (seed: ₦2,200 per m² equivalent), so a width × height calculator drives the live total.

The worked example is plain arithmetic on seed data: 3.0 × 1.0 m = 3 m² × ₦2,200 = ₦6,600.

Finishing (eyelets, hemmed edges) is visible because it affects hanging; modifiers update the price.

Indoor and outdoor use is asked, but suitability for outdoor use is confirmed at review, not claimed.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Moves to quote and project earlier than any other packaging page: the decision panel is a short brief, not a configurator.

Uses the nearest seed SKU (Custom Paper Bag, HP-PKG-006: Min 100, 7–20 days, sample yes). Custom boxes and sets are handled by the same brief.

Reference upload and budget range are asked, because custom packaging is judged by examples.

No 3D editor; a views module and a sample step do the explaining.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Object photography plus an outlined branding-area diagram, so the customer sees exactly where the print goes.

The seed has three mug SKUs (standard, magic, large), shown as variant cards with their own states, not as separate pages (canonical-page rule, Q45).

The availability state is explicit: a sourced item, with colours depending on current supply.

Only the seeded price (₦4,500 per piece, Min 10) is shown; other quantities price on selection.

Availability is the headline risk, so the availability state uses a 'variable' treatment (icon + label + explanation) near the colours.

Unavailable colours are shown disabled with a reason, not hidden.

The die-cut contour concept is drawn: the cut line follows the artwork outline, labelled, not described in jargon.

Estimate ready (seed: CONFIGURE_QUOTE, ₦18,000 per 100, Min 100, sample optional).

Artwork is required to calculate the cut; 'send later' still gives an estimate.

Shares primitives with Product Labels but leads with shape, not application.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Room context leads: the canvas above a sofa gives real scale.

Orientation is chosen visually (ratio previews); landscape, portrait and square are real seed SKUs at the same starting price, and custom size is an estimate.

The image-quality warning is shown in context (upload too small for the chosen size) with two recovery actions.

A slightly more editorial layout (bigger room image) while keeping HolyPearls components and price discipline.

WHAT MAKES THIS PAGE DIFFERENT

Office context leads, then a frame-corner detail (material evidence).

Frame colour and mount are the decisions; the glazing type is confirmed with you (not claimed).

The image-quality state reuses the same component as Canvas, shown here in its OK state.

Each state changes the price block and the primary action together. Every state has an icon, a text label and a one-line consequence, so none relies on colour. The families that use each state are listed.

EVENT BRANDING · LAGOS

Annual Business Conference: one project, four kinds of work

The context

A company hosting its annual conference for 250 guests needed the event to look like one brand, from the registration desk to the stage.

What was needed

Crew shirts for 30 staff, a name badge for every guest, a large backdrop for photos and roll-ups for the entrance, all ready before the event date.

How it came together

The organiser described the event once. We suggested the items and quantities, agreed one quote, then sent a proof for each item. Items moved through production and Quality Check separately, and the backdrop was held until the balance was paid.

Embroidery or print? A practical guide

- How each one works
- Side by side
- Which suits your logo?

The short answer

Embroidery is stitched into the fabric. It looks premium and lasts through heavy washing, which is why it's common on polos, caps and uniforms. Print sits on the surface. It handles fine detail, photos and large designs better, and usually costs less for big graphics.

Embroidered chest mark on a staff polo. Placeholder image.

Embroidery		Print
Look	Raised, premium	Look	Flat, crisp
Detail	Bold shapes, simple text	Detail	Fine lines, photos
Washing	Lasts longest	Washing	Good; depends on method
Best on	Polos, caps, jackets	Best on	T-shirts, large back designs

Decide in 30 seconds

Is your logo mostly bold shapes and short text?	Embroidery works well.
Does it have photos, gradients or tiny text?	Choose print.
Will it be washed every day (uniforms)?	Embroidery lasts longest.
Is it a big design on the back?	Print is usually better value.

Still unsure? Upload your logo on any product and we'll recommend one in your proof.

Breakdown per item is test data; the ₦450,000 estimate is the 3.1F fixture. Final price comes in HolyPearls' quote.

- Last approved reorder (₦210,000) — Bola Martins · Mar · no approval needed

ACME policy: orders above ₦250,000 need an approver. This one is ₦200,000 over.

Approving sends the request to HolyPearls for a quote. You'll approve again only if the quote is higher than this estimate.

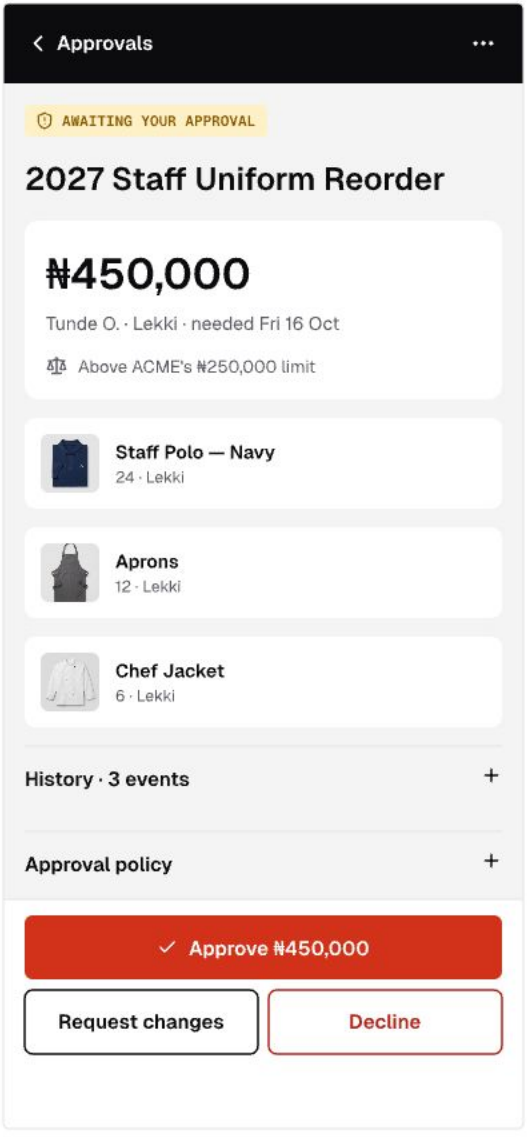
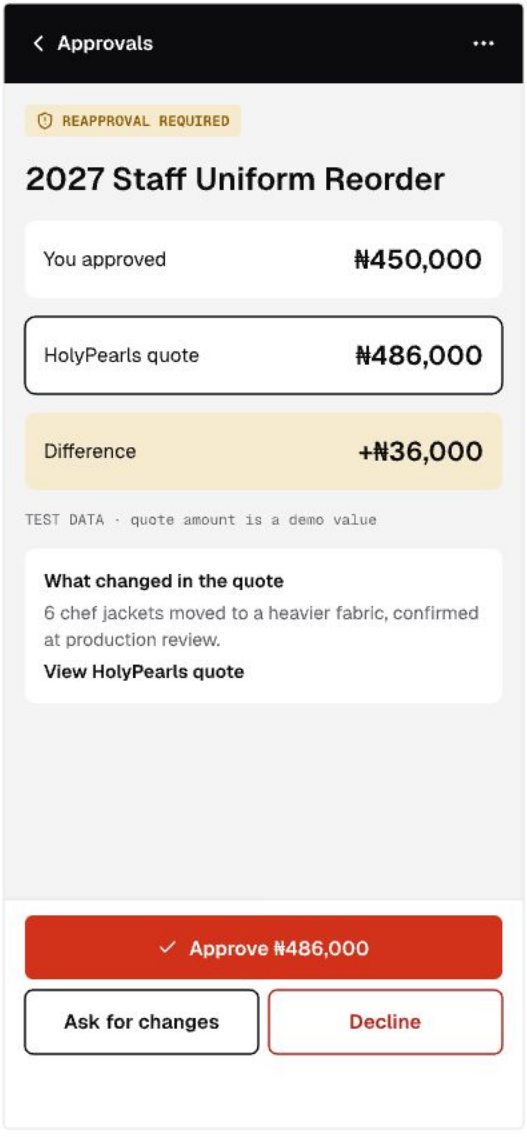
A · REVIEW (MOBILE)



Single column. Amount and policy come first; the three decisions are pinned. Policy and history collapse below.

B · ORGANISATION REAPPROVAL REQUIRED



HolyPearls' quote came back higher than the approved estimate. The approver sees the difference; the HolyPearls quote stays visible and unchanged.

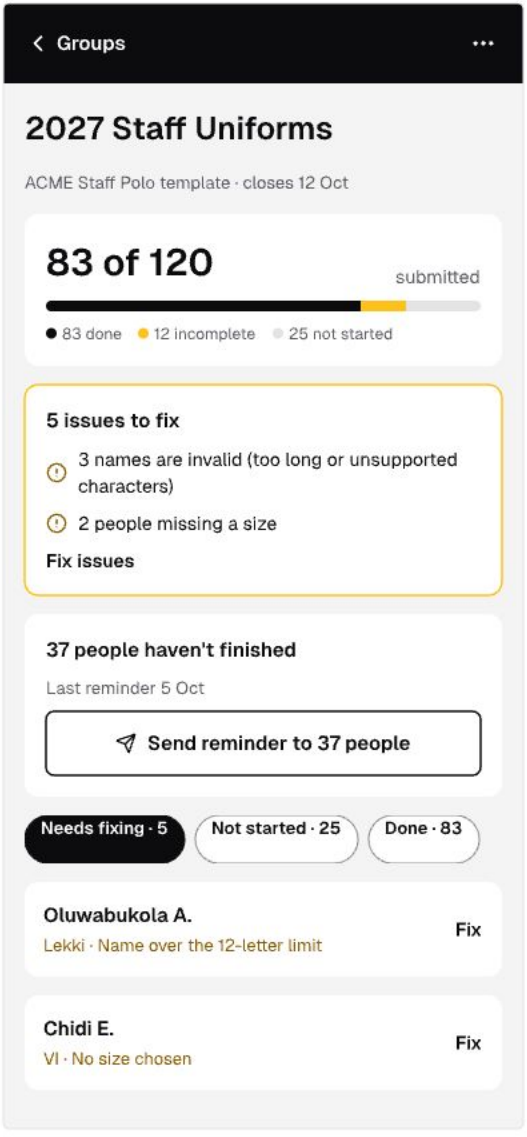
A · SUMMARY + ISSUES + PEOPLE



Summary first, then issues to fix, then people as cards filtered by status. Reminder and close are contextual actions, not a permanent sticky bar.

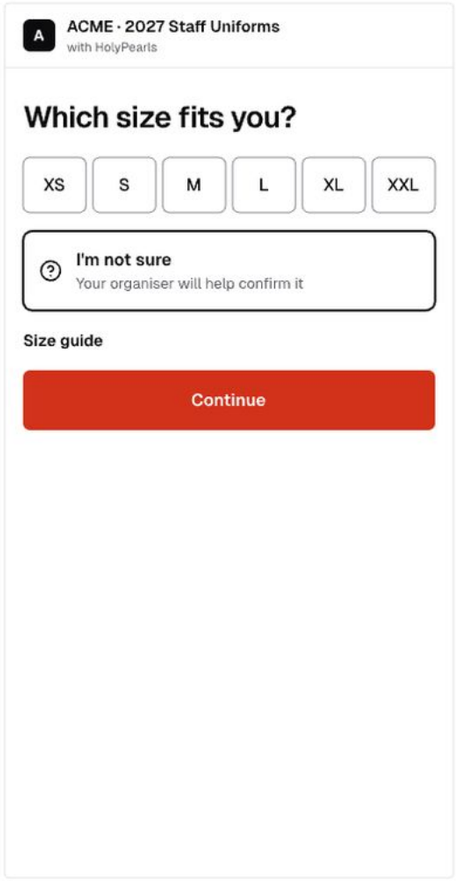
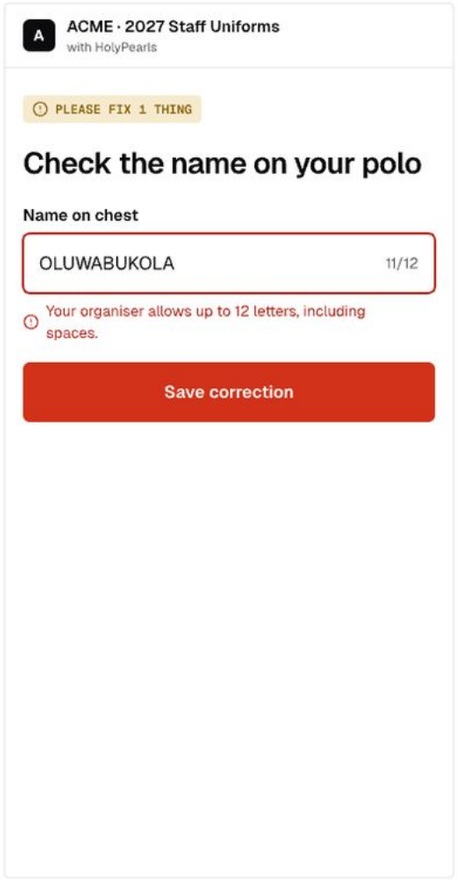
Participant variants

A · I'M NOT SURE OF MY SIZE



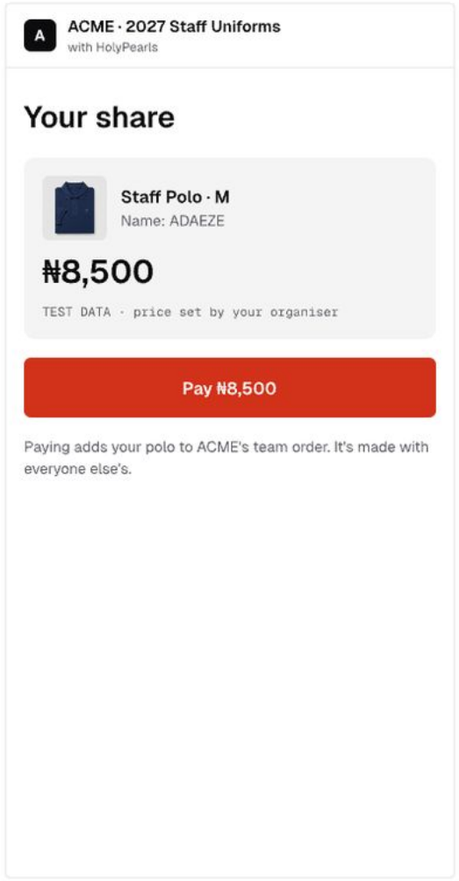
A calm fallback, not an error. The organiser sees 'size to confirm' and the person can still submit.

B · NEEDS CORRECTION



Opened from the organiser's reminder. Only the field that needs fixing is shown, with the reason.

C · PARTICIPANT PAYS



Only when the organiser set 'participants pay'. The amount is theirs alone; organisation-paid collections never show payment.

D · INDIVIDUAL DELIVERY

Every launch page still needs page-specific copy, data and images (Q08). The layout is shared; the content is not. Private flows (19 in Private_Flows) are covered by § 40–53 and § 62–78, and are not public page records.

Do they look like one site?

Yes. They share one header and footer, Geist type, Signal tokens, the price-state chip, buttons and cards, and the image-tag convention.

Do they look like the same page 14 times?

No. The PDPs share a gallery-plus-panel skeleton, but each family changes the decision primitives (routes, fit, fold, dimensions, shape, variants), the module stack (tables, diagrams, scale, views, similar-sourcing) and image ratios. Editorial pages use different page structures.

What was deliberately not varied

Core actions, tokens, price-state semantics, focus treatment and navigation. Variation comes from content, not novelty.

Accessibility, performance and indexing notes

Accessibility

Contrast (Signal): ink/paper 19.5:1 · graphite/paper 6.6:1 · red/paper 5.0:1 · paper on red 5.0:1 · line-strong borders 3.42:1 · status colours 5.9–7.0:1.

States never rely on colour: every price, order, asset, template and availability state has an icon and a text label (§ 38, 63, 65, 80).

Focus: a 2px ink ring on light surfaces; a 2px paper ring on ink and red. Keyboard focus is shown on search suggestions (§ 80).

Touch targets are 44px minimum. Filter chips at 36px are spaced so their hit areas reach 44px.

Body text is 16px minimum on mobile; support text 13–14px; mono metadata only for non-critical references.

Proof pins always have a numbered written comment (§ 49C), so the review works without seeing the pins.

Locked fields explain why they are locked (§ 69); disabled buttons say why (§ 40B, 47, 67).

Error summaries link to fields; entered values are preserved (§ 45A).

Motion and performance

Production Reveal stays on editorial media only (home, hub hero, case study hero). It's never used on forms, cart, checkout, quote, proof or Workspace (Q34).

Reduced motion: media shown at rest; toasts appear without slide; skeletons don't shimmer.

No WebGL or video is needed to understand anything; the configurator preview is a static image with hotspots (Q41).

Image budget: ≤ 150 KB per above-the-fold image on mobile; responsive srcset; lazy-load below the fold.

Hero media has static fallbacks; no autoplay (Q42).

The keyboard reserve (291px) is planned on mobile search so nothing important sits under it.

Indexing (SEO)

Indexable: home, directory, 2 hubs, 304 PDPs, projects directory, 13 project pages, Our Work, case studies, resources, articles, About, Contact.

noindex: search results, cart, checkout, quote, proof, order, guest access, Workspace (all), participant flow, company store (Q44).

PDP variants (colour, material, fold, shape) live inside one canonical page; the tote is one canonical page for PKG-012 and APP-130 (Q45).

Every public template keeps a crawlable H1, breadcrumb, descriptive copy and internal links (Q43).

Image alt text describes the product, material or use; placeholders are replaced before launch.

Stage 4.2 changelog and deviations

Changelog

Stage 4.2 board created: 86 sections plus 12B, on the Signal theme.

17 new reusable HP/* components (§ 80); AvailabilityState and QuantityLadder extend 4.1 primitives.

Warm literal colours (#D9D2C5, #B8B1A4, #1B1A17xx, #FCFAF6xx) replaced by Signal tokens in the 4.1 sidebar component, 4.1 anchors and this board.

60 new placeholder images: 45 generated in the house style, 15 Unsplash stock references (AI and stock generation failed mid-run).

New image library frame: 'IMAGE LIBRARY — Stage 4.2 (generated placeholders)'.

Deviations (logged, not hidden)

D1 · Palette: the brief says 'warm ivory / orange', but the owner approved Signal (white, cool neutrals, red #D2311A) on 26 Sep. The brief's rule 'the 4.1 board wins every visual conflict' applies. Q02/Q04 are read against Signal.

D2 · Added § 12B Project detail. HF_PROJECT_DETAIL (13 pages) had no section; it was needed for Gate 11 and Gate 12.

D3 · 15 images are Unsplash stock references, labelled STOCK REFERENCE, until generation or a shoot replaces them.

D4 · Test values introduced and labelled: VAT 7.5% and Lagos delivery ₦4,500 (Stage 1.4 business rules), magic-link 24h expiry, reapproval amounts, payment methods, participant price.

D5 · The Stage 1.4 70/30 deposit vs 3.1E 60/40 fixture conflict still needs an owner decision; 3.1E is used on transactional screens.

Architecture change rule

No frozen Stage 3.1 behaviour was changed.

Flag for review (smallest change, not applied): 'participant pays' and 'individual delivery' variants depend on organiser settings. Confirm 3.1F allows both per collection.

Flag: the quote-reapproval path assumes approval is tied to an amount. PRD 05 should confirm the tolerance before reapproval triggers.

Flag: the guest magic-link lifetime and single-use rule need a PRD 03/04 decision.

MAJOR (23)	23 pass · 0 open	Q02/Q04 pass under Signal (deviation D1). Q08 page-specific content is a launch content task: mapped in the matrix, not a design gap. Q54: no type/spacing regressions (automated check: 0 clipped text, mono ≥ 11px).
MINOR (2)	2 pass	Q03 black bands used as punctuation (max 1–2 per public page) · Q28 team/locations stay utility-level. Note: 36px filter chips rely on 8px spacing to reach 44px hit areas (documented, § 85).
